

The first time with your family members 🐶

Congratulations on your new family member, new dog parents

If your dog has just arrived, give him time to settle in. It could be that he sleeps a lot at first, but it could also be that he is completely overexcited. Remember, he has had a long journey. Language, smells, everything is new to him. Be patient and avoid too many new stimuli for a long time Walks. Your dog is not used to a lot of exercise and therefore his muscles need to be built up first.

Please don't forget that your dog should wear the recommended safety harness in the first few weeks, this is the only way to actually prevent it from slipping out

For feeding, give him small portions of high-quality dry food, preferably twice a day. You can also mix it with cooked chicken and rice if necessary. Be careful with new foods like Treats or chews, they can lead to diarrhea, as the dogs are not used to this in China, introduce them slowly.

Start exercising slowly and take short walks to support your dog. Pay attention to his behavior and take regular breaks to allow him to rest and adjust to the new environment.

In the beginning, expose your dog to new stimuli as little as possible, give him time, visits can wait.

To promote house training, offer your dog regular meals and take him outside immediately after eating. Praise and reward him when he does his business outside. Be patient and consistent in training.

Good luck and joy with your new family member! If you have any questions or problems, our team is available at any time.

Love, time, patience the three magic words 🙏
